

The Squares Puzzle
By David Pleacher

In the diagram below, there is a large square made of 21 squares, each of a different size. If the dimensions of the three smallest squares in the figure are 2×2 , 4×4 , and 6×6 , can you determine the dimensions of all the other squares, including the one that contains the 21 smaller squares?

